About Face: Since 1991, Jacqui Cohen's Face the World Foundation has disbursed more than $7 million, making a huge difference in the lives of abused women, battered children, the hungry, the homeless and the elderly. The local philanthropist and Army & Navy president once again opened her Point Grey waterfront home to the rich and famous for her annual hootenanny where 220 guests shelled out $1,500 a ticket to attend the intimate evening of philanthropy. Vicki Gabereau and Pamela Martin emceed, while Jim Byrnes entertained.

A family affair: Jacqui Cohen's mom, Marlene, and daughter, Kasondra, were all smiles at the Face the World fete that generated nearly $1 million for local charities.

Face the World Foundation founder Jacqui Cohen welcomed mining and movie mogul Frank Giustra to her lavish Point Grey house party.
